

Bodmin Airfield is one of the few places in the UK where you can take part and enjoy the camaraderie and fun, flying and navigating around a route using those skills you were all taught when you first started flying...chart; watch; compass; and your no1 eyeball.

YES,TOPNAV is what I am referring to, a fun navigation exercise that lasts about an hour or so and is organised by the Royal Institute of Navigators and the SW host is Bodmin Airfield. (see the attached poster and log in your entry at www.topnav.co.uk)

We are holding our Bodmin event on Saturday 15th April and this gives us some scope to move the date if needed.

There is a small fee to enter the competition but you don't pay for any landing fees and you are treated to a free lunch and a really good day mixing with like minded souls.

I have included a photo from a previous year to show some of the teams before they set off on their adventure.

Please contact me if you wish to take part or have any questions and don't forget to log in your interest with www.topnav.co.uk
